The Filmathon for a Cause: Campaign Against Single-Use Plastics in Davao” is a filmmaking competition for a cause, where teams of filmmakers produce their short films in only 24 hours and at the same time face adventure race-style challenges and obstacles, and mandatory shooting locations in and around Davao City.

The 3 to 10-minute short films must include elements that touch on the campaign against single-use plastic. The filmmakers have the creative freedom as to how they want to incorporate this into their film - whether it's a simple plot device, a character trait, a basis for a subplot, or the central theme of the film itself.
